

Conversion Specialist – An Introduction

Become a true conversion specialist in four deep dive sessions

Conversion Specialist – An Introduction

What will you learn?

Become a true conversion optimizer with our Conversion Specialist course. In this course we will introduce you to the essentials of evidence based growth: the FACT & ACT process, and all the things you need to know about statistics, consumer psychology, and tools for running successful online experiments. In four sessions we will make sure you have a good understanding of each step in the process of becoming a true conversion specialist.

4 sessions, 4 fields of expertise

- The FACT & ACT methodology on running successful online experiments
- The statistics behind CRO: learn about the right metrics, test bandwidth and analysing results.
- The psychology behind CRO: learn how the brain operates and makes decisions, how to create hypothesis and how to prioritize them.
- Putting it into practice: the data gives you insights, from the insights you make hypotheses and on this last day, we'll discuss these hypotheses and design options.

If you want to know how to grow your conversion, what your data tells you, what your customers think, how to test your hypothesis, and which steps to follow when you want to test structurally? Sign up for this course!

Conversion Specialist – An Introduction

Course topics

Session 1: Strategy, Organization & Process

During the first session we will reflect on each step in the optimization process and discuss how to setup and structure a sustainable program. How do you develop your own optimization insights and grow your customer intelligence? And how do you make sure these insights contribute to winning experiments, a more efficient and effective optimization program, and ultimately an evidence-based culture?

Session 2: Data & Statistics Essentials

During the second session you will learn all the ins and outs of how to be data-driven in your optimization efforts. What should you measure? What does your data tell you about your customers and their behavior on your site? What are the elements that need optimization? This session will show you that statistics and the way you measure and interpret your data is key.

Session 3: Psychology Essentials

During the third session we will show you what science can teach us about our brain. What motivates it? How does it perceive things? What does it remember? Which external factors are influencing these processes? And most important: How you can use these internal and external factors to influence the decisions and experiences of a brain. The goal is to learn when to use a specific persuasion technique in order to optimize the online dialogue with your customer.

Session 4: Putting it into practice

During the last session you will show everyone the data you've collected and the hypotheses it brought you. We will discuss your ideas and give specific feedback. Besides that, you will learn what a good tech stack set-up is for running A/B tests successfully and will give you some interesting tools to try. Last but not least, you will receive a certificate!
